The increase in automobile excise tax will weaken the automobile industry at the cost of jobs. [MYTH]

The automotive industry will not weaken because several factors other than excise taxes affect its performance.

The personal income tax reduction, which is part of the same package as the proposed automobile excise, will completely offset the additional expenses from the increase in automobile excise. This assures that the sales of automobiles, now on higher prices, will not slow down.

Why does government collect taxes?

The government collects taxes to provide basic services such as education, health, infrastructure, and other social services for all.

These taxes are used to pay for our doctors, teachers, soldiers, and other government personnel and officials.

Taxes are also used to build schools, hospitals, roads and various infrastructure for connectivity, and industrial and agricultural facilities.

Prioritizing these investments would give the people an opportunity to contribute in economic progress and nation-building.
